HEMP GROWERS SELECTED FOR 2019

The SC Department of Agriculture has selected 40 farmers to participate in the 2019 SC Industrial Hemp Pilot Program.

The recipients, who were chosen from 162 applications, represent 24 counties. Of the 20 growers permitted this past year, 19 are included for next year.

White Lein, Harry Bancroft Limehouse III, Robert Douglas Mason, Matthew O'Brien, Gerard Pick, Randle Palmer Quimby, Shawn Ransford, Janel Dena Ralph, Jaqueline Rhinehart, John Townsend Rivers, Walter Lamar Scott, Melinda F. Shambley, Don Carlos Sharp, Robbie Lanier Springs, Michael

Todd Stamps, Michael J. Tucker, James Ulmer, Richard Alan Varnadoe, Joseph Henry Watson, Joe Edward Wilkes, and Robert P. Wilkins Jr.

Seven universities will work with the participants: The University of South Carolina, The Medical University of South Carolina, South Carolina State University, Clemson University, USC Beaufort, Furman University and The College of Charleston.

The first hemp season is ending, but a new batch of growers are already preparing for next year's crop.

"I'm excited about the increased interest in growing industrial hemp, and we look forward to working with each of the 40 growers," said Hugh Weathers, SC Commissioner of Agriculture.

"A high priority is nurturing the current growers, the investments they made, and the risks they took for this inaugural growing season," he added.

For more information about the Industrial Hemp Pilot Program, contact Vanessa Elsalah at 803-734-8339, velsalah@scda.sc.gov, or visit agriculture.sc.gov.

ATTENTION READERS!

We will publish only one issue of the Market Bulletin in December, on December 6. The ad deadline will be November 20. Remember: no Bulletin on December 20!

ROW CROP PRESENTATIONS OFFERED AT THE 2019 SC AGRIBIZ EXPO

FLORENCE—The 2019 SC AgriBiz Expo will expand the educational session with lots of timely information to help growers in the coming season.

The Expo will be held January 23 and 24 at the Florence Center.

Last year Dr. Ron W. Heiniger, Cropping Systems Specialist at NC State, and Kevin Matthews of Matthews Farm presented two of the best-received sessions on row cropping.

"Word spread about the very informative and beneficial information they shared," said executive director Jody Martin. "As a result they were invited to duplicate the presentations at five or six major conferences throughout the Southeast. They also teamed up to find better ways to get the best yield matrix on corn and soybeans.

"This year's expo will feature two sessions by Dr. Heiniger and Matthews, with expansion of last year's topics and an interactive session."

Introducing High Yield Management Practices for Corn and Soybean into Traditional Systems

This session will cover the basic principles and mathematics behind new high-yield management systems for corn and soybean. The concept of maximizing yield by building each yield component will be covered, along with the keys to the astounding corn and soybean yields reported in the Southeast Farm Press. Ideas for local use will be presented.

Adopting High Yield Management Practices for Corn and Soybean – How Can I Make Those Yields on My Farm?

In this interactive session, growers will be encouraged to participate in discussions covering the adoption of new high-yield practices for corn and

THANKFUL FOR OUR FARMERS

The fact that Thanksgiving happens in November is no coincidence. We all know the story of the first Thanksgiving that took place in Plymouth Colony in 1621. President Abraham Lincoln declared the final Thursday in November as a national day of thanksgiving in 1863, and Congress made Thanksgiving Day an official holiday in 1941.

That celebration feeling is hard to come by when our farmers are severely impacted by back-to-back hurricanes during harvest season. So, I'll ask you to take a step back and celebrate for them. It is especially important that farmers are sincerely thanked for all their hard work in providing the bounty for our state and our nation. One way of being thankful is buying the products that our farmers have grown.

According to the FarmersFeedUS website, in 1960 one U.S. farmer could produce enough food to feed 25 people. Now, as a result of the technological advances and enhanced production, one farmer can feed 165 people. This holiday season, as you sit down with your family, I challenge you to think beyond the turkey and sweet potato casserole and remember to thank the farmer who produced them. Every year, 12 million or so turkey hatchlings arrive in South Carolina, bound for farms in the Pee Dee and the Upstate where they will be raised.

Also, don't forget all of the fresh local produce you can buy at our three major State Farmers Markets in West Columbia, Florence and Greenville. The holidays are a festive time at the markets.

Another way to support buying local is by looking for the Certified South Carolina logos in South Carolina grocery stores and making it a priority to buy those products. The United States imports a significant amount of food, and our farmers can pay a price if consumers don't buy our South Carolina products.

In preparation for the holidays, ask for Certified South Carolina in your grocery stores and at your local country markets. When dining out, go to restaurants that participate in our "Fresh on the Menu" program. Download the apps for Certified and Fresh on the Menu. You'll enjoy recipes and reminders of where you can buy and where you can dine on delicious Certified SC Grown food.

I am so proud that our South Carolina farmers take their responsibility to their customers seriously. The Department of Agriculture admires them for that! In turn, supporting local farms benefits the entire community. Remember that when you're buying groceries for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Blanche and I want to wish you a very happy Thanksgiving with your family.

Hugh Weathers

2019 SC AGRIBIZ EXPO

soybean. Both the benefits and pitfalls of new concepts such as using early maturing indeterminate soybean varieties, placing fertilizer directly beside the corn or soybean plant, double inoculation of soybeans, the use of micronutrients, improved seed placement, the key triad of variety, seeding rate, planting date, and other important high-yield concepts will be explored in depth.

Farmer experience and supporting research will be combined in a dual presentation that will focus attention on management practices.

Other educational class offerings for the row crop farmer will include:

- SC Hemp, First Year & Future
- Maximizing the Value of Your Woods
- Managing Agriculture and Wildlife
- The Value of Prescribed Burning
- ACRE: Getting Your Agribusiness to the Next Level

Details on these topics plus information regarding the fruit and vegetable track, the women’s track and other happenings can be found on scagribiz-expo.com.

PEANUT BUTTER CHOCOLATE COVERED CHERRIES

INGREDIENTS

- 2 10-ounce maraschino cherries with stems
- 1 cup crunchy peanut butter
- 1 cup confectioner’s sugar
- 24 ounces chocolate bark coating
- Small paper muffin/candy cups

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Drain cherries, leaving stems intact. Mix peanut butter and sugar until thoroughly combined.
2. Flatten one tablespoon of peanut butter mixture into a two-inch diameter disc. Lay a cherry on top of the peanut butter disc with the stem pointing up and work it up so that the cherry is completely coated.
3. Place each enrobed cherry on a baking sheet covered with waxed paper and freeze for about five minutes. While the cherries chill, melt chocolate according to package directions.
4. Dip cherries one at a time in the melted chocolate and allow the excess chocolate to drip off. Place in a paper candy cup and allow to cool until chocolate is firm.

SC CHRISTMAS TREE VARIETIES

VIRGINIA PINE – The most popular Christmas pine on South Carolina tree farms. Sturdy limbs, long-lasting, great pine scent. Native to upper piedmont and mountain areas.

LEYLAND CYPRESS – Incredibly long-lasting when kept in water. Doesn't shed! Fast becoming the new Southern tradition in Christmas trees.

WHITE PINE – South Carolina is one of the few Southern states growing this Christmas pine, which grows naturally all the way into Canada. Soft blue-green foliage, long-lasting with a great pine scent. Takes the longest to grow.

RED CEDAR – Most of us in the South had one growing up. Great smell but somewhat prickly. Not as long-lasting as pines. Best cut two to three weeks before Christmas. A Southern Classic!

CAROLINA SAPPHIRE – A relatively new cultivar of Arizona Cypress. Beautiful blue color and wonderfully aromatic. Longevity is similar to cedar but is soft to the touch!

DEODAR CEDAR – Branching and needles similar to firs. Great for decorating, sturdy but prickly. Unique musky aroma. Lasts well, but like firs, some inner needle shedding can occur. Native to the Himalayas.
